DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 – 13, drawn to an Enterprise application describing one or more external applications, classified in class 709, subclass 202.
- II. Claims 14 – 27, drawn to a method of providing multi-organizational resource management with purchase requisition, classified in class 705, and subclass 27.
- III. Claims 28 - 39, drawn to a method and computer medium of providing multi-organizational resource management of receiving and storing external application data, classified in class 709, subclass 203.
- IV. Claim 40, drawn to a method of a multi-organization resource management with simultaneous access, classified in class 709, and subclass 205.

Inventions Group I and Group II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions Group I has a different function regarding an enterprise application describing one or more external applications. Claim 1 for example, does not require a method with purchase requisition in order to impart patentable distinction to the method recited therein.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions Group I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, the different inventions Group I has a different function regarding an enterprise application describing one or more external applications. Claim 1 for example, does not require a method of a multi-organization resource management with purchase requisition in order to impart patentable distinction to the method and system recited therein.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions Group I and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, the different inventions Group I has a different function regarding an enterprise application describing one or more external applications. Claim 1 for example, does not require a method and computer medium of providing multi-organizational resource management of receiving and storing external application data for a second variant in order to impart patentable distinction to the system recited therein.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 3625

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions Group II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions Group II has a different function regarding a method and computer medium of providing a multi-organizational resource management with purchase requisition. Claim 14 for example, does not require a method ad computer medium of receiving and storing external application data in order to impart patentable distinction to the method recited therein.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to be completed must include an election of the invention to be examined.

Inventions Group II and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions Group II has a different function regarding a method and computer medium of providing a multi-organizational resource management with purchase requisition. Claim 14 for example, does not require a method of a multi-organizational resource management with simultaneous access in order to impart patentable distinction to the method and system recited therein.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to be completed must include an election of the invention to be examined.

Inventions Group III and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions Group III has a different function regarding a method and computer medium of providing multi-organizational resource management of receiving and storing external application data. Claim 28 for example, does not require a method of a multi-organizational resource management with simultaneous access in order to impart patentable distinction to the method and system recited therein.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to be completed must include an election of the invention to be examined.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Species

In the event the applicant elects Group I above, the applicant is further obligated to elect among the following species as follows:

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

1a - Species of claim 8, the enterprise application, wherein external application is an ERP.

1b - Species of claim 9, the enterprise application wherein external application includes SAP ERP, PeopleSoft ERP and an Oracle ERP.

In the event the applicant elects Group II above, the applicant is further obligated to elect among the following species as follows:

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

2a - Species of claim 19, wherein external applications include ERP's.

2b - Species of claim 20, wherein external application includes SAP ERP, a PeopleSoft ERP, and an Oracle ERP.

In the event the applicant elects Group III above, the applicant is further obligated to elect among the following species as follows:

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

3a - Species of claims 32 and 38, wherein external applications include ERP's.

3b - Species of claim 33 and 39, wherein external application include SAP ERP, a PeopleSoft ERP, and an Oracle ERP.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claim 1 is generic for Group I, Claim 14 is generic for Group II, and Claim 28 is generic for Group III.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
